

LEFTY 'DOUL'S Margarita Zero

Besides being a baseball legend, Lefty O'Doul was something of a connoisseur and entrepreneur of the cocktail. Taking the advice of his gal pal Marilyn Monroe, he focused his attention on making a zero-calorie margarita that catered to the everyday woman. Lefty talked Marilyn into testing out this new cocktail mix and he was so smitten with her delighted response that he named the drink "Marilyn's Margarita Zero."

This new drink mix became all the rage with '50s fans looking to stay skinny and gorgeous like their icon – Marilyn Monroe.

The recipe has been passed down through generations of bartenders and the ingredients are still imported and blended to Lefty's specifications.

You can try many margaritas, but you can't stay skinny unless it's a Margarita Zero, now available through your SWS sales representative.
